French Canadian Students Form Separate Association

Sherbrooke, Que. — (CUP) — Students of eight Canadian French-language universities formed a national association separate from the existing National Federation of Canadian University Students at a meeting here this weekend.

Laval University of Quebec City was the only one of nine French-language colleges and universities to stay out of the new federation, called L'Association des Universitaires de Langue Française. Six schools joined outright, and two withheld membership pending ratification by student bodies.

Laval delegates approved the plan in principle but held that the association should integrate with NFCUS.

FULL MEMBERSHIP

Committed to full membership were students of University of Sherbrooke, University of Montreal, University of Ottawa, and colleges in Edmundston, NB, Bathurst, NB, and Sudbury, Ont.

St. Joseph's University, College Bridge, NB, and Ste. Anne's, Church Point, NS, reserved commitment.

LAVAL'S VIEWS

Laval University delegates said they approved the formation of a French-language students group but appealed that the association "recognize the bi-ethnic realities" by joining with NFCUS to form a bilingual secretariat.

The motion was not seconded.

A Laval motion that it is imperative to continue promoting better understanding between French and English-speaking people was adopted unanimously.

The association said it was not "separatist" and membership in it did not preclude membership in other national organizations such as NFCUS.

Its primary purpose was to aid French-language students and strengthen their position in provinces where they are a minority.

Students' Society Awards Close Wednesday

Plea For Refugee Student Housing

Pickersgill Backs McGill Hostel Plan

Ottawa, Feb. 25 — (BUP) — Immigration Minister J. W. Pickersgill appealed in Parliament today to all Canadian Universities to set up special accommodation for Hungarian refugee students.

He made the plea in praising a McGill plan announced during the weekend by Principal F. Cyril James. McGill will make a hostel available to some 140 Hungarian students until Aug. 15 this year.

At the hostel, named Petofi House, the students will take intensive work in English and French. After gaining a working knowledge of one of the languages, the students will be given information about Canadian universities so they can make a choice and apply for admission next fall.

MORE STUDENTS

About 200 more Hungarian students are expected "in the very near future," Pickersgill told the Commons. No accommodation has yet been found for them.

HOPEFUL

"I am very hopeful that other universities will be able to follow the example of McGill and improvise temporary accommodation so that these students may have an opportunity between now and the end of May of learning enough English or French to enable them to take employment of a character which should give them a real chance to continue their studies in our universities next autumn."

The Universities of Toronto and British Columbia have also made arrangements to receive Hungarian students.

PAPINEAU CUP PRELIMINARIES TODAY

The Talbot-Papineau Cup is again at stake today. This cup is considered the most important public speaking trophy awarded by the McGill Debating Union. The topics for the preliminaries, which will be held between 1 and 4 pm, in the Walter Stewart Room, are as follows:

1) "A dictatorship is more effective than a democracy for the under-developed country."

2) "Man revels in death rather than in life."

3) "Man's passion is a source of inspiration."

Professor Dudek, of the English Faculty, will be the judge of the preliminaries.

The finals of this contest will be held this Thursday, the topics being announced in the Daily.

The Talbot-Papineau Cup is annually awarded to the most outstanding public speaker at McGill. In this contest women have always held their own — Ann Peacock was the winner last year.

Engineers To Meet Faculty Members

Tonight at 8 in the Union Ballroom, Engineering Undergraduates will be able to meet staff members of the various Engineering branches. The faculty members will be prepared to answer questions.

This event is sponsored by the Engineering Undergraduate Society with the aim of helping especially those students in the first three years of Engineering to decide for which branch they are best suited. Representatives from the EIC's committee will be present to interview undergraduates.

Liquid refreshments will be available during the evening. All students in 1st, 2nd, and 3rd year Engineering are urged to attend.

Panel Will Discuss BWI

Tonight in the Union Lounge a forum will be held to mark the birth of the new West Indian Nation. The problems of the new Federation will be discussed under the title "New Light Rising in the West".

The chairman will be Professor George A. Catlin and the panel members are Professor J. Mallory of the Political Science Dept, Mr. Charles J. Burgess, Acting Trade Commissioner for the B.W.I. to Canada, and the following students Zin Henry, George Eaton, and Herbert Clement.

The new nation has recently chosen Trinidad as its capital and current talks are going on in the area to finalise details for the federation to hold its first elections in 1958. There are some 200 West Indian students at McGill forming a significant section of the campus community and the evening's discussion should be of interest to the campus at large.

'Catching'

There is a new political illness in Canada. This is known as "Maladie de Duplessis". Its main symptoms are a paranoic mistrust of any centralizing tendency, and a tendency to throw fits of hysteria and verbal diarrhoea at the mention of certain words like "federal aid" or "government grants". Direct pressure upon any of the bodies affected by this illness is thought to result in alternate fits of sweating and freezing, and in the eventual retirement of the patient from all activities, but since this approach has never been tried its efficacy has never been proved.

It was thought at one time that the malady was confined to the province of Quebec, but unfortunately the germ seems to spread and an outbreak has been reported in British Columbia.

During a recent session of Parliament, a Social Credit spokesman, during the debate on the Canada Council, hammered away at the idea of a "State Culture". The gentleman from BC only sees the Canada Council as a means for the federal government to extend its power over the provinces.

Unbridled by any checks or controls, the Canada Council will run rampant through the land, forcing people to paint Canadian pictures, making them read the words of Ducek and Layton, locking them inside halls where quartets perform contemporary music. Because the Canada Council will be government controlled, it will in time, according to this gentlemen come to dominate through its money power.

This gentleman from BC has only a touch of "Maladie de Duplessis", and in his speech he referred to the Opposition by the Premier of Quebec to federal grants from universities. To him also, government grants mean also government control, and he added that the present policy of the government is a culmination of all the fears of M. Duplessis, and that "...he may be a smarter man than many of us thought".

This fear of the central government in a democratic country seems absurd and could be laughed at if it were not aired by supposedly responsible people. If Canada is to achieve any greatness, it will have to forego some provincial pride in order to speak as a nation. This surely is not to great a thing to ask of a country that has contributed and can contribute so much to the world.

More Problems

Sir:

You've called out for more problems. Try this for size:

A table top is made up of a number of inlaid pieces of wood. One of these pieces measures ten inches by one quarter of an inch, and the rest of the surface is exactly inlaid with perfect squares, no two of which are the same size. What are the least possible dimensions of the table top, which is itself a perfect square?

I thank you for affording an opportunity of giving the contumelious engineers (or any other sporting soul) something to chew on.

LETTERS TO THE EDITORS

Re 'Pakistan: Asian Star'

Sir,

With reference to an article published in the "Daily" on February 20, 1957 under the above caption, may I make the following corrections:

1. Dr. Mohammad Iqbal, the great poet and philosopher, made the concrete and actual proposal for the creation of Pakistan and did not confine (as the writer implied) to "mystic poems foretelling the creation of a Muslim nation in British India." Iqbal's poetry marks the cultural renaissance of the Indian Muslims. In 1930 at Allahabad conference he gave to the world one and only one solution for the complicated political problem of India and the plight of the Indian Muslim minority—viz. a separate consolidated Muslim State in the Sub-continent. His dream fructified in the historical Lahore Resolution in 1940 and subsequently in the establishment of Pakistan as a separate State in 1947.

Quaid-i-Azam

2. The Founder of Pakistan was Mr. Mohammad Ali Jinnah and not Mr. Mohammad Ali. Mr. Jinnah was universally known as the Quaid-i-Azam meaning a great leader—a title given by Mahatma Gandhi in recognition of his great service to the cause of India's struggle for independence.

3. Mr. Liaquat Ali Khan, the first prime minister of Pakistan was assassinated at Rawalpindi, Punjab, and not in the North West Frontier Province.

Unjust Claim

4. The unfortunate and unfriendly relations that once existed between Afghanistan and Pakistan were due to the unjust and illegal claim of the former over a Part of Pakistani territory—this was known as the so-called "Pakhtunistan" demand by Afghanistan. It had very little to do with the assassination of Pakistani prime minister by an "Afgan Youth". (This assassination although it was a great blow to Pakistan, is still unfortunately a mystery). However, after the visit of Pakistani President to Afghanistan and the visit of Afghan prime minister to Pakistan, the relations between these two great neighbours have fortunately considerably improved.

5. Finally, the writer says, "In many villages (in Pakistan) no self-respecting girl will marry any one but a soldier". Poor civilians in Pakistan! In that case I should be glad to be here...

Sadat Kazi, B. Com. 4

(Ed. Note: The following is reprinted from the Cambridge Varsity without one word changed, just to give readers some idea of the difference in reporting styles between English and North American usage.)

The match on Monday turned out, although the Varsity won by 5 goals to 1, to be good practice for both the attack and the defence.

This was especially so in the first half for, although the University scored within the first few minutes, the Artillery pressed hard for the rest of the half, and eventually scored when their centre-forward shot hard after a movement starting on the left.

'Sleep Without Nightmares'

Redmen hockey coach Rocky Robillard can finally have a few nights sleep without nightmares as a result of his clubs showing this past weekend. The Redmen racked up well deserved victories over the champion Blues and U. of M. Carabins.

The Big Red Team now have a stranglehold on second place over the Maplewood crew who are four points back of Rocky's men. Second place would mean the Alphonse Raymond Trophy as the top intercollegiate club in the province.

The Redmen sparked by 'The Line' consisting of Baltzan, Konyk, and Hughes are making their best showing in six years. Michel Joyal is also playing his best hockey of late. The young netminder who is only in second year Engineering should prove a backbone to Rocky's squads in future winters.

Although hampered by his shoulder injury last week-end when he was forced to play with "a hand and a half", Leo "The Cannon" Konyk has been declared ready for this coming week-end tussle. He will make the trek with the Club to Quebec and will see his regular share of action.

THIS IS SPERRY

Lost horizons found. Imagine the position of an aircraft pilot three miles up with nothing to tell him whether he is on even keel or even flying right side up. The use of a visible horizon is obviated by the Sperry Gyro-horizon which shows on the instrument panel the exact position of the aircraft as compared with the earth's surface.

Thus banking can be judged and the craft kept trim in cloud, in darkness and at extreme altitudes.

Another case where the work of Sperry in Canada has been successfully directed to the challenging problems of a modern age.

Here, there and nowhere: Ross 'the Sniper' Hughes ran his scoring streak to 14 games by scoring in the Redmen's two weekend tilts... All told the speedy right winger has potted 19 goals in the last 14 Redmen games... Linemate Dickie Baltzan also running a 15 game point scoring streak... He has picked up a either a goal or assist in every Redmen game, excepting the opener... The University of Montreal's newspaper, Le Quartier Latin, writes (translated from French), "Arthur Therien (last year's Carabin coach) was present at the game Friday. He thinks that the player who has made most progress in the league this year is the number nine from McGill"... For those who haven't seen the Redmen play this year, and that takes in 75% of the campus, number nine is worn by the 'old smoothie' Dick Baltzan... Headline on page one of The Daily, March 10, 1947, "Redmen Beaten 4-0 by Blues in Decisive Tilt; 12,000 (that's twelve thousand) See Blue and White Win College Hockey Laurels"... Nowadays we're lucky if that many see 12 games in two seasons... How times have changed... Somebody goofed in this year's edition of the Winter Carnival Programme for Forum Night... One glaring error said that Art Therien was coach of the Carabins this year... This was news to Art... The fact is that Rollie Bleau has been at the helm of the Blue and Gold all season... The other prize boob was in the lineups... Of the 16 U of M players listed as playing, 10 of them had the wrong number beside their names... The Forum announcer couldn't announce the changes because no one thought of giving him a programme... Peter Reid, the McGill skier who broke his back last weekend, is getting along fine up at the Montreal General Hospital... Pete has had plenty of visitors and is in high spirits... Hopes to be back at McGill in three weeks... The large amount of friends that he had visiting him caused his nurses to change his room to a larger one... Don't make the same mistake we did and walk into 1927... Peter's now in 1940... If he has many more visitors they may have to reserve a whole floor for him... A big round of applause should be given to Tim Wagg and Bill Wilson... Tim did a tremendous job this past year as President of the Students Athletic Council while Bill was also a topnotch man as President of the Intercollegiate Athletics Council... John Brooks, in the Toronto Varsity, referred to the Carabins as the 'Flying Dutchmen' in a recent issue of the Varsity (Thursday Jan. 31)... Get your nationalities mixed up John?... Brother John also predicted that Brian Anderson would win the Intercollegiate scoring title earlier in the year... He needs at least 14 points in the Blues last game to do it... A tough assignment... We learnt our lesson, no more predictions... Question of the week... Are there more living or dead people in the world today?... Think a while before you come up with an answer.

wing. The defence did well to keep the score down to one all at half time.

In the second half the Cambridge forwards began to move as if they meant business and soon forced a short corner from which Croft scored. The Varsity continued to press hard and in the last quarter of an hour scored three more goals, the first coming from Cunningham on the left wing, who broke through the defence before the twenty-five line to beat the goalie easily.

Finally Douglas, the centre-forward scored twice—the first from the best movement of the game, in which all the inside forwards helped and the second from a rebound off the 'keeper's pads.
